AN EXPLANATION

The item in yesterday's Star headed, "An Aggressive Move," with reference to suit of E. W. Agnew against H. B. Masters, simply referred to an old suit instituted years ago, and this explanation is made to remove any impression that may have been formed that any new litigation has been instituted.

ODD FELLOWS MEETING

The Ocala lodge of Odd Fellows held an interesting and well attended meeting last night. Among other business transacted was the induction into the mysteries of the third degree of Mr. Leib of the foundry force. State Deputy H. C. Jones and Instructor M. M. Little did their work to perfection. Under the good of the order and hearing from visiting members, the scribes of the Star were called on and ingeniously and cleverly explained their continued absence, which was accepted in good faith, until C. M. Brown, Jr., rose and said that it had been intimated the senior scribe of the Star had interpreted the very important business before the lodge was a gastronomic discussion of an oyster supper and that is why he was in evidence. The accused plainly showed that such a report was a "base political insinuation," that he took his oysters straight, untouching with lodge night-keys.

Mr. Turner, wife and two daughters of Baltimore arrived yesterday and are stopping with Mrs. T. J. Owen. Mr. Turner has come with a view to locate. We trust Ocala may meet his expectations and that he and his family will abide with us.
